Solid balance sheet

Storebrand Bank (group)

Resistant lending-growth in changing macro-environment

Strong mortgage development...

2020-2021: Covid 19 pandemic

2022: War starts in Ukraine and energy crisis

2023: Strong inflation. Collapse of several banks in US and Switzerland

2024: Hiking rates

2025: Trade barriers and political uncertainty

... high growth expected to continue supported by

- The strategy remains unchanged
 - Group approach (cross sales)
 - Acquiring market share
 - Making profit for the group
 - Proven track-record
 - Merge with Kron gives new "customer leads"
- Contender
 - Danske Bank has left the Norwegian retail market
 - CRR3 gives more level playing ground with IRB banks
- Advantages as a ESG frontrunner
 - First mover with green mortgage products
 - In process to develop a complete plan for banking ESG products

Accelerating deposit growth

Successful measures taken to grow deposits

Last decade: Low market rates

2023/2024: Rate hikes and high market rates

2025: Uncertainty, volatility in equity market and postponed rate cuts in Norway

... growth is supported by

- Accelerating growth in 2024; utilizing higher market-rates
- Significant increase in deposits throughout 2024 and so far in 2025
- 35 200 MNOK in deposits as of Q1 2025
- Targeting low internal churn for new deposits to maintain bank margin
- Huseierene still important partner

Increasing cross-sales and off-balance sheet income

Cross-sales on banking customers

- number of customers/sales per year

- There has been a significant increase in cross-selling of Savings products following the inclusion of Kron. Many Storebrand customers have started investing through Kron
- Still increased cross-sales of P&C on banking customers
- The merger of Kron into the bank in 2024 contributed to increased off-balance sheet driven income
- From 2025, the bank will also receive commission from Storebrand Life for distributing 'Individual pension account' alongside banking products

Funding and Treasury

Storebrand Bank has lower risk than several other Norwegian banks

Close to be a pure Retail Mortgage Bank

- Low historic risk for mortgage banking
- Exposure to prime housing markets in Norway
- Diversified macro risk

Low funding risk

- Growth in mortgages give more flexibility to issue Covered Bonds
- Room for increased volume
- Storebrand Livsforsikring acquires mortgages for its balance

Large issuer of Covered Bonds in Norway

Out of 22 active issuers of Covered Bonds in Norway, Storebrand Boligkreditt is ranked:

Storebrand Boligkreditt has had significant growth in NOK issuance over the past decade

6 Outstanding volume in NOK

7 Yearly issuance in NOK¹

9 Total outstanding volume

1) Issuance in NOK in 2025

Well diversified funding strategy

Senior Bond Strategy

- Target to increase our senior bond funding buffer in good market conditions
- Issue mainly 3 years maturity - but also longer with an opportunistic approach
- Buffer for Covered Bonds
- Outstanding senior bonds in both NOK and SEK

Covered Bond Strategy

- Target new issue maturity: 5 years and taps
- Target LCR 1B from day 1, also for foreign investors:
 - Storebrand Boligkreditt CB: holding in Storebrand Bank ASA sometimes needed - due to bank size, costs and ALM
- Active in buy backs
- NOK 15,75 bn issuance so far in 2025
- Outstanding bonds in NOK, EUR and SEK

NOK is our primary market.

We aim to be a frequent issuer and contribute to liquidity in our bonds

Storebrand Bank has a well-balanced maturity profile

Group outstanding bonds as of 16 September 2025

Issuance from Storebrand Bank is well received by investors and often priced in line or tighter than larger peers

Green Bond Framework

Storebrand updated its Green Bond Framework in April 2025 to better align with the market development and the EU Taxonomy. All proceeds from bonds and taps after the update will be allocated to projects in line with the framework.

Third-party assessment by Sustainalytics describes the Framework as credible and impactful

Use of Proceeds criteria is better aligned with Substantial Contribution Criteria for Climate Change Mitigation in the EU Taxonomy

The Framework is aligned with the ICMA Green Bond Principles

Introduced new project categories, such as Energy Efficiency

New projects must be aligned with the 2025 version of the Green Bond Framework
